

ART TECH

As of last year, The Cooper Hewitt has digitized more than 200,000 objects in the design museum's collection, making the diverse and comprehensive collection available online. The Collection Browser is available on tables installed throughout the museum, and visitors can use a Collection Pen (above), to save objects to personal collections available on a smartphone or computer. Through August 20, explore The Jazz Age: American Style in the 1920s, an exhibit that includes everything from posters and furniture to a glamorous Egyptian motif bracelet (below) encrusted with diamonds, sapphires, and black pearls. MILE HIGH

The 39th annual Museum Mile Festival will take place on Tuesday, June 13. The evening (6pm to 9pm) is the perfect opportunity to wander Fifth Avenue—which will be closed to traffic between 82nd and 105th Street—and visit seven of the premier cultural institutions in New York, free of charge. The event will kick off at El Museo del Barrio on 104th Street, and there will be live jazz, Broadway show tunes, and string quartets along the way. Enjoy special exhibitions at The Neue Galerie, the Guggenheim, The Met, Cooper Hewitt, The Jewish Museum, and The Museum of the City of New York. MUSEUMMILEFESTIVAL.ORG

Tara Bernerd

ACROSS THE POND

Tara Bernerd: Place, a new tome from Rizzoli about British architectural interior designer Tara Bernerd, is filled to overflowing with stunning images of envy-inspiring locations from Gstaad to Central Park West. Bernerd's work includes luxury hotels, sexy nightclubs, chic restaurants, and residences that range from ski chalets and treehouses, to elegantly appointed townhomes. The designer mixes styles—high and low, organic and industrial—to create spaces that resonate with warmth and character. Foreword by renowned architect Richard Rogers, and written by Jason Pomeranc and Charlotte and Peter Fiell. RIZZOLIUSA.COM SEE RESOURCES ■
