

EARN YOUR STRIPES

Sandberg has launched a smörgåsarbord of striped wallpaper for its latest collection Rand, which is all about stylish lines. The most timeless and simple pattern in the book gets a Swedish makeover, with horizontal lines, vertical lines, straight lines and wavy lines coloured with a pared-back, Scandi palette of nude and gentle pastels, as well as the bolder black-and-white design of this Magnus wallpaper. Sit back and let your walls do the talking... Magnus 516-9' wallpaper in Black, approx £79 per roll (gandbergwallpaper.com)

[ Beach babe ]

Unfurl your windsurfing kit and dust off your jet ski – sure, it's not quite water sports season yet, but Sweaty Betty has you covered. The Drift wetsuit is a happy medium between swimming costume and shorty, with its neoprene keeping you insulated, while the intricate patterns all over it make you look cool, even when you're topling into the waves. £110 (sweatybetty.com)

Livingetc
LOVES

TOME FROM HOME

Clear your coffee table and make way for Place by London-based architectural interior designer Tara Bernerd. With a foreword by leading architect Richard Rogers it's an exciting overview of her most acclaimed projects and you'll take just as much inspiration from her hotel designs as from Bernerd's use of texture and unusual materials in residential properties. From an apartment on NYC's Central Park West to the Four Seasons in Fort Lauderdale, all of her creations resonate with a sense of warmth and character. A must-read. £42.50 (rizzoliusa.com)

FROM BELOW Tara Bernerd's beautiful revamp of the lobby of New York's SIXTY SoHo, and Swiss-style gets a modern makeover at Gstaad's Chalet Miramonti

